Weekend

RETRO STYLE

Some clever young things have found a new use for those old vinyl records. Elk Envy has launched a range of retro-inspired cuffs and bracelets made from records. The pieces have cute names such as Don't Cross Me Out and Me Old China Pattern. The cuffs are priced at $39.95 and bracelets $29.95.

GET SORTED

If you like the personal touch, pick up some of the gorgeous hipp notecards for your next event. Perfect for penning your own invitations, or to send those thank you cards. They are available in three colour palettes (we like the red for a dramatic edge) at $12.95 for a pack of 10.

ART IN A CUP

Artist David Bromley has moved from canvas to ceramic with his new range of collectable cups, jugs and mugs. The earthy pieces are available from A Day On Earth in Armadale. Our fave is the skipping girl tea cup and saucer, $55.

* A Day on Earth, open Thur-Fri, 11am-6pm

ECO TEES

If there is one fashion item we are all united in finding it is the perfect tee. Sosume has come to the rescue with flattering cuts in a variety of styles. Made from eco-friendly fabric that is so unbelievably soft you'll never want to take it off. But much more than t-shirts, Sosume's autumn/winter range consists of diaphanous tops, harem pants and slinky dresses that all feel like a second skin. The pieces are designed for layering, but can just as easily make a statement on their own.
